Passion Pursuits

In hospitality, some seek out the excitement and joy of the culinary arts, while others chase their dreams of fame and stardom. That world has allowed me to pursue my life passions, for instance teaching me how to elevate food for the people I love.

I've also learned balance, evening out bonus calories with Crossfit and rock climbing all the while making time to learn the guitar and play with my dog. Hospitality is what brought me to coding, and as I pivot into this new world, I can't wait to see where I go to next.
